

Josh Goldberg—Full Length Bio—2022

Josh Goldberg is a Jewish renaissance man—an accomplished vocalist, prolific songwriter, multi-instrumentalist, music producer, and Cantor. Born and Raised in Dallas, TX, Josh began his singing career performing in musical theatre, and then went on to study voice, piano, music composition, and theatre at Dallas' Arts Magnet High School. Josh moved to Los Angeles in 2010 to study at the University of Southern California's prestigious Thornton School of music. After graduating with a degree in Popular Music Performance, he found his calling in Jewish music, touring nationally and internationally with luminaries such as Rick Recht, Craig Taubman, and Mikey Pauker, as well as performing his original music at conferences, synagogues, and music festivals. Josh's songs have found their way into synagogues, summer camps, and youth conventions, concert halls and even into the White House. Josh founded Jewish record label and production company, Kosher Style Records, producing over 100 recordings for outstanding Jewish artists from all over the US. Josh recently moved to Music City, a.k.a. Nashville, TN, to serve as Cantor and music director at Congregation Micah. Josh continues to expand his creative horizons to include creating writing and film making. Look out for the release of Morning, A Journey: A Visual Album—a full length film to accompany his most recent album.

You can stream Josh's extensive catalog of music on Spotify, Apple Music, Amazon Music, and Youtube.

Quotes about Josh:

“God makes musicians, and God makes artists. Josh is the latter.”

-Craig Taubman

“Josh’s music is a window into his soul, providing an opening invitation to ours. What a blessing to the Jewish community that his vision and gifts continue to gain even greater reach, finding ever-greater depth.”

-Rabbi David Stern, Senior Rabbi, Temple Emanu-El, Dallas

“Flipping back and forth between traditional Cantorial and Pop and breathing life into the prayers...a revelation...supreme musicianship.”

-Ron Fair, Multi Grammy-winning and Platinum selling music producer
